The graph represents the function $f(a, b)$, which is a 3D surface with $a$ and $b$ as the variables on the x and y axes, respectively, and $f(a, b)$ as the z-axis. The function appears to be a paraboloid, with a peak at the origin ($0, 0$) and decreasing values as the distance from the origin increases.